

MISS ROOSEVELT'S ENGAGEMENT TO NICHOLAS LONGWORTH NOW REGARDED AS A CERTAINTY

San Francisco Woman Said to Have Letter Announcing Betrothal With Injunction to Keep It a Secret.

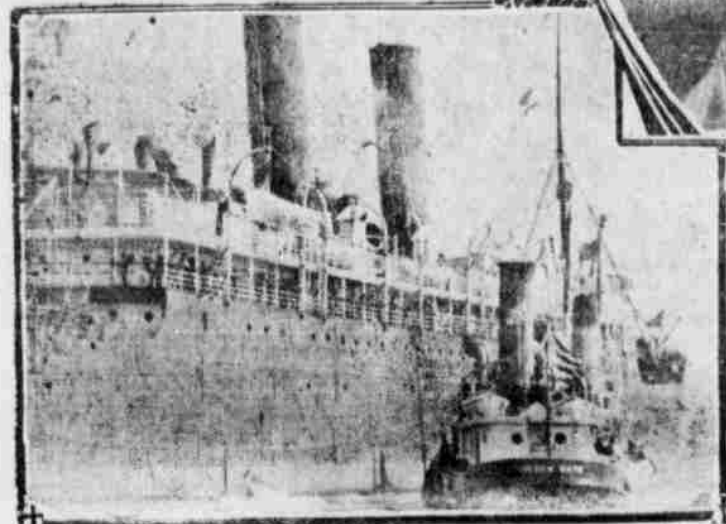

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 6.—Since Miss Alice Roosevelt's return from the far east on the liner Siberia, which reached this port Monday morning (Oct. 25), talk of the engagement between Congressman Nicholas Longworth and the president's daughter has evolved from a mere rumor into a generally accepted fact.

"Princess Alice," as Miss Roosevelt has recently been dubbed, was asked a good many questions when the reporters boarded the Siberia. She showed the same cordial attitude toward the press which has always characterized her and talked freely on all subjects save one. When asked if there was any truth in the report of her betrothal to Longworth, she blushed.

ed—which is a thing the self-possessed little lady seldom does in public—and replied, hurriedly, that she had nothing to say.

Congressman Longworth duplicated her words, when questioned, and very quickly changed the subject, without replying, when asked if he was willing to deny the rumor specifically. Passengers on the Siberia say that Longworth was unusually attentive to Miss Roosevelt on the voyage from Yokohama and that they were much together, which has never been said of "Princess Alice" and any other man.

A local society leader, who enjoys Miss Roosevelt's confidence to a greater extent than most of her friends, is said to have a letter from the latter saying that she and Longworth are to be married, but that no definite date is set for the wedding and that the engagement is to be kept secret for some time. Miss Roosevelt, like all women, enjoys "keeping people guessing," as she herself is said to have put it, and does not intend to give her secret to the public before she is quite ready.

BIG MAN-KILLING IN CHILE TRIFLING WRITES AMBASSADOR MARTINEZ

MINISTER TO THE UNITED STATES SAYS THE PEOPLE OF SANTIAGO WERE INCENSED OVER A TAX OF $5 A HEAD ON BEEVES. SOLDIERS WERE ABSENT, BUT THE POLICE TURNED IN AND KILLED FIFTY AND INJURED HUNDREDS.

(Startling news in the cable dispatches a few days ago said that 50 people had been killed and hundreds injured in riots in Santiago de Chile. The following exclusive article by the Chilean ambassador to the United States explains the trouble.—Editor.)

Ambassador Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary for Chile.

We have labor unions, strikes and occasional street disturbances in our country, just as you have them in Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, and other cities of the United States. But a street fight should not be mistaken for the beginning of a revolution.

There is a rather unfortunate idea in the United States that every time there is in South America what here would be called a breach of the peace is a start for a revolution. It is much like the notion that every touch of malaria or fever in the tropics is yellow fever.

When the cable brought the news the other day that there had been rioting in Santiago, with a large number of people killed or injured, I have no doubt that many people of the United States at once pictured an overturning of the Chilean government, and a great number of disastrous things.

They forget that in certain matters we are quite up to date—that we, too, have our labor unions, our labor agitators, our socialist propaganda, and even our anarchistic propaganda and speakers. It is not long ago that the anarchistic organizations of Spain were kind enough to send us three or four of their most radical preachers of anarchy, and our police were obliged to send them out of the country.

But we have also the labor union; generally in Chile it is known as a society, and its nominal object is that of a beneficiary association. They are not as conservative as labor unions in the United States and are inclined to go into the theoretic and the socialistic.
